THE URBAN ELECTRIC Co.

IN THE SHOWROOMS

What's new to the trade—fabrics, furnishings, and fabulous finds

1 No. 9 Thompson, a spirited offshoot of Jim Thompson, has introduced Opus, its fifth collection of fabrics by Richard Smith. The vivid Chana, a cotton with quirkily irregular dots, comes in 11 colorways. 800-262-0338; jimthompsonfabrics.com. 2 The Sabina lantern is part of Amanda Niabet's first full lighting line with the Urban Electric Co. This version pairs a brass frame in polished nickel with circles painted in Benjamin Moore's Forest Moss; a range of other finishes is available. 843-723-8140; urbanelectricco.com. 3 White Webb now offers five of its Clearly Classic acrylic tables in chic smoke gray, distributed by Donghia. Borrowing architectural motifs from around the globe, these include, from left, Akbar, 16" sq. x 18" h.;

Alexander, in small, 9" sq. x 20" h.; and Tangier, in large, 12" sq. x 24" h. 800-366-4442; donghia.com. 4 Teaming up with furniture firm A. Rudin, designer Jeffrey Alan Marks debuts his own upholstered pieces, among them a streamlined tête-à-tête sofa, 84" L. x 30" h. x 36" d., shown in Belgian linen and a cerused-oak finish. The sofa can be ordered in four other lengths and an array of finishes and fabrics, as well as c.o.m. 310-207-2222; jam-design.com. 5 Pierre Frey's Nomade collection nods to migrant cultures with such standouts as, from top, the uncut velvet Bakou, in rouge; the basket-weave Khiva, in prune; and the jacquard Patiala, in fuchsia. Additional colorways are also available. 212-421-0534; pierrefrey.com.
