

MANHATTAN
NOVEMBER 2017
COGG

DESIGN & REALTY
designer picks

WHITE MAGIC

New York-based interior designer Steven Gambrel (srgambrel.com) curates the coolest of spaces. —Phebe Wahl

"The Cogg light has a translucent soft light that feels warm but also slightly mysterious." $11,400-$12,100, Steven Gambrel, urbanelectrics.com

"The [William] Haines sofa has parchment and deep tufting that feels enveloping and cozy for this frosty theme." Bel-Air sofa, price upon request, williamhaines.com

"The tray has a mercurial, aged, silvery quality that feels good with the soft, milky whites of the Cogg." Eglomise tray in silver with nickel, $1,350, thelacquercompany.com

"The Stuppel quartz brings in nature but feels right with the tones and various textures. I like the depth of subtle color in the natural quartz." Quartz rock crystal table lamp, $7,500, Carol Stuppel, istable.com

"The decorative fire logs certainly would be like chunks of ice and perfect to cool the space down, particularly in summer months." Salote fireplace logs, $330, Jayson Home, 138 Greene St.

PHOTOGRAPH COURTESY OF STEVEN GAMBREL

THE URBAN ELECTRIC CO.