

DESIGN TRENDS

Whether you're building from scratch or just rethinking a room, these leads are bound to inspire.

Suddenly bored by your neutral interiors? Then turn to PANTONE—the color company universally trusted by graphic artists and fashion designers—whose long-awaited oil- and water-based paints in 3,000 heavily saturated hues will entice you to update your walls (color guide, $165; four-ounce sample pot, $7). pantonepaint.com.

Subtle turning distinguishes this two-foot-long pull handle created by Odile Decq-Benoit Cornette ($980). It's part of a five-piece line for VALLI & VALLI, which offers fifty designer collections with an architectural take on hardware. 877-326-2565.

When antiquing doesn't turn up a mate for a lamp or a lantern, call on the URBAN ELECTRIC COMPANY. The Charleston, South Carolina-based lighting business offers custom design alongside a stock collection, which includes this Lyford sconce ($985). To the trade, urbanelectric.com.

Denver-based William Ohs has been designing kitch thirty-five years, primarily favoring a heavily carved, look. The latest style from his eponymous company, is Hamptons Classic, a nod to the American East. Th clean lines dominate, but the detailed moldings and p continue to reflect the hand-carved production. wmo.com

Edited by Sarah

Who bette Barbara Sz cofounder WATERWORK write The E Guide to Di Perfect Bath Her questi pithy advic you sidest renovation aches. Boo tiles ($35 e and Etoile showerhez waterwork

TOWN & COUNTRY
MAY 2007 / LYFORD

THE URBAN ELECTRIC Co.

